Silvaris Contracts with Weyerhaeuser to sell Downfall from Grayling

New source for off-grade OSB in the North Central U.S.

Bellevue, Washington - October 1, 2009 – Silvaris Corporation announced today that it has finalized an agreement with Weyerhaeuser to sell all downfall OSB from Weyerhaeuser’s mill in Grayling, Michigan.

Silvaris already sells all the downfall from Weyerhaeuser’s other U.S. mills in Sutton, WV, Arcadia, LA, and Elkin, NC. The addition of Grayling will bring much-needed supply to an area that has experienced shortages in many OSB products in recent months.

Silvaris will primarily sell Grayling products online at www.osbmarket.com. To inquire about specific items that may not be listed on the site, buyers can call Silvaris’ OSB Team at 866-809-8101.

“We have been working hard to find other sources of OSB, particularly in the North Central region,” said Eric Miller, VP of Panel Sales. “We look forward to being able to respond to our North Central customers’ needs more quickly and efficiently than ever.”

Silvaris Corporation is a technology-powered trading company specializing in buying and selling wholesale quantities of OSB, plywood, softwood and hardwood lumber, cut stock, and building material surplus and seconds. We trade as Silvaris and as LowGradeLumber, and sell wood panels online at OSBMarket.com. Silvaris Corporation is a privately held corporation headquartered in Bellevue, Washington. Further information is available at www.silvaris.com.
